SRI G. KRISHNAMOORTHY : Before taking decisions, do Government in such cases estimate the approximate expenditure and if it is negligible, is it not to be welcomed on the part of the Government to consider these proposals?

THE HON. SRI M. BHAKTAVATSALAM : Government do take into account the approximate cost for the commitment. But, at the same time, I would like to tell the hon. Member that it is not a question of the cost for the commitment alone, but that there are certain principles also.

SRI G. KRISHNAMOORTHY : May I just give information that once the Government have conceded the principle, there is no harm in applying the principle with retrospective effect?

THE HON. SRI M. BHAKTAVATSALAM : The hon. Member may say that there will be no harm in it. But Government, as I have stated, have taken into account all aspects of this question and taken this decision.

(b) if so, the date from which such sanction to draw pension has been given?

THE HON. SRI M. BHAKTAVATSALAM : (a) Yes.

(b) 16th September 1961.
